Dear Parents and Guardians,

It has been a great pleasure working with your children all year long. We are truly amazed by their progress and resilience throughout this year's challenges. We hope you and your family will manage to enjoy some relaxing time over the summer.

As you may know, summertime can result in a significant loss of academic and language skills when students do not engage at all in learning activities. This phenomenon is also known as the "summer slide" or summer loss. Research shows that students who continue engaging in learning during school breaks will better retain the concepts they have learned during the school year. This is particularly important when it comes to reading and foreign language skills.

Engaging in learning does not mean that your child should do math worksheets and study French vocabulary lists every single day of the summer. Learning happens through multiple ways and Summer is the perfect time to make it more fun and explore interests that match your child's own learning style. Engaging in physical activities, hands-on exploration, interacting with siblings or the adults in the house, playing board games, making crafts, cooking, drawing, or singing are a couple of many ways to keep a learning mindset.

In order to prepare for the next grade level, it is important that your child maintains his/her exposure to French language to minimize language loss. We recommend a minimum of 20-30 minutes of French and 20-30 minutes of independent reading daily. You will find a list of recommended websites and suggestions of activities on the next page. We also encourage you to keep track of these daily activities in a document such as this one. It is a good way to keep your child motivated and give him/her a sense of accomplishment. These resources are meant to offer some guidance but as they are optional, the pedagogical team will not be able to provide support during the summer.

We look forward to seeing our students back in August. Have a great summer!
